Detailed description

The exclusivity of this villa's position is obvious at first glance: groves of orange and olive trees, almond trees and fragrant blooming plants define this calm region a little west of Artà, where the beautiful villa property "Son Cullera" is situated. Idyllic countryside, pure nature, absolute peace and quiet, a fabulous panoramic view all with a modern style and created lovingly and with very good taste, a great infinity pool, super outdoor seating areas and even a football field with real grass - these are all features that distinguish this as a premium property. Let us take a look at the details together. The villa, built a few years ago, sits on a slight slope, so therefore having a kind of terraced garden. The huge salt water pool measuring 15 m is on the bottom level. The pool, covered in turquoise mosaic tiles, is infinity style, i.e. at the "long" end, it appears to flow into the wonderful scenery and the gentle hills on the horizon, offering a truly fabulous backdrop. This very same panorama can also be enjoyed from one of the sun loungers on the sun terrace. At the "short" end of the pool, there is a roof-covered seating area with a large table and plenty of chairs, in addition to a sort of summer kitchen, which also can be used as a wonderful pool bar. The house is reached by strolling over the lush lawns and garden from the pool area. Here there is a covered terrace, right in front of the living and dining room. There is plenty of space here for a comfortable seating area with two bright blue wooden vintage-style benches between large planters of fragrant flowers, with a long dining table in front of a glass wall with sash bars. A dining room is tucked away behind the sash window front with a great, oversized, rustic, wooden table, which can even seat up to ten people. This room connects you to the kitchen as well as to the lounge, which is a large, bright room with a cosy fireplace. Like all the rooms, it gleams with its white walls and a bright, specially prepared concrete floor. A large sofa area, just a few pieces of furniture with great retro character, but all the more effectively placed along with modern art set the scene in this space, managing to make it homely at the same time. The kitchen looks like it has jumped out of an interior design magazine - a genuine dream kitchen, not just for those who cook as a hobby. The stainless steel central island with integrated seating is really eye-catching. The kitchen cupboards are made of high-quality real wood, which creates a very effective ultra- modern mix. Of course you can find every technical comfort that you need for a self catering holiday here. In the left half of the house, a corridor leads to three double en-suite bedrooms, most having direct access to outside. All the bathrooms have a clean design line with trendy, walk-in showers. There is an additional bathtub in the en-suite master bedroom, as well as a separate dressing area. Rurally pastoral: Peace, quiet, privacy and lots of nature define the character of the region. The medieval town of Artà is only about 4 km away. Stroll through the weekly market in the pedestrian area and enjoy the colourful hustle and bustle at the Placa del Conqueridor. If you need a rest from shopping in the pretty boutiques, you can stop off in one of the numerous coffee shops and good restaurants. Anyone who likes to play golf, should visit the popular course of "Capdepera Golf" where the hilly fairways have been integrated into the existing landscape. The sandy beaches in the Bay of Alcúdia are just as quickly and easily reached as the secluded natural beaches, such as, the Cala Varques. If, for a change, you want to experience some hustle and bustle, go to Cala Ratjada, where you can find some very appealing restaurants right on the seafront and harbour promenade. We at Fincallorca wish you a fabulous stay in the highly recommended villa "Son Cullera".

Great finca, big pool. Excellent on-site support by the owner.

The Finca is in reality even better than on the pictures. This is now our third finca we booked and the best so far. We'll book them again next year. Super clean and with the equipment value was put on quality. Starting with the kitchen (a dream), the bathroom and of course the pool. The care is on site by the owner, which could not have been more friendly. They even disposed of the garbage for us (who has ever been to Mallorca, we know it can be complicated). The finca is a quiet area and to the next supermarket/place you definitely need a car. But it was this peace and seclusion that we found great.

We spent wonderful holidays with our family (8 adults, 1 toddler) in the Finca "Son Cullera". The house, gardens, barbecue area and pool were in excellent condition. The recordings on the Internet fully corresponded to reality. The furnishing of the Finca was very tasteful, the large kitchen with cooking island (all made of stainless steel) would be ideal for hobby chefs! On the terrace, from which one had a wonderful view to Arta, an extremely appealing seating landscape provided for relaxation. Also at the big pool there was enough space for the whole family. Particularly to emphasize is the very good support on site by the landlord, who was always anxious for his guests! It was now the 2nd time that we booked via Fincallorca and this time we were completely satisfied. It won't be the last.
