Detailed description

Magical white nights are celebrated not only in St. Petersburg, but also in the south of Mallorca, where warm winds sweep through the plain of Palma: at the villa "La Tierra" you dance barefoot over a footbridge from the house to the wooden deck of the really large pool, enjoy cocktails and shots in the white seating ensemble of the open-air lounge behind fragrant curtains or in the water and take a gentle bubble hydromassage in the jacuzzi. Let your gaze wander lazily from the white pool loungers across the palm trees and greenery to the mountains in the far distance... But also right at the house, impressive with its own individual architecture, large windows and roof terrace, there are nice places: under the umbrella you can relax comfortably while being protected from the sun, conjure up a fast snack on the mobile electric grill, and to burn calories, we recommend a few rounds of basketball or table-tennis. Children and adolescents also feel at home here: a chill-out-atmosphere with selfie potential is guaranteed. Next to the parking lots, there are two garages as well! In Egypt, white is the colour of joy and happiness. And white also provides the perfect framework for highlighting the vibrant shades of summer clothes. It's easy to feel like the great Gatsby in a house with extremely stylish and high-quality furnishings as well as ample space for a larger group or family. A second, light-flooded panoramic living room upstairs will surely soon become your favourite quietplace, while downstairs you will prefer to sit in good company in front of the TV or fireplace; the white lacquered built-in kitchen with side-by-side fridge and a long dining table is ideal for a relaxed brunch without any time limit at all; and the stylish guest rooms (three downstairs, three upstairs, including a single room downstairs) succeed in managing the discreet balancing act of cool functionality combined with a romantic flair. Honeymooners will find the ideal love nest here (double bed and bath with view included). The ultramodern, mainly en-suite bathrooms (four downstairs, two upstairs) have rain-like showers and thanks to an additional guest toilet on the first floor, you won't need to hurry, even with full occupancy. A great extra: a built-in insect repellent system ensures vampire-free nights... We recommend taking advantage of the proximity to the capital with its imposing cathedral, winding streets, art nouveau façades and bars with live music. The marine and theme park of Palma Aquarium offers pure adventure and fun for young and old – the main summer attraction is diving with rays. Underwater weddings also take place here and divers can get married by saying " I do" underwater. Or discover the lively south-west coast: Son Veri Nou, just 17 km away from "La Tierra", between El Arenal and Cala Blava, has a long, traffic-free beach promenade and a spectacular view over the whole bay of Palma. The beaches of Platja de Palma offer clear water, breathtaking sunsets and a wide range of tempting options for water sports enthusiasts. Tourists who opt for a car-free holiday can visit Can Pere Anton on foot to spend an uncomplicated multicultural beach day.

At the end of October 2018 we went to the finca with our family and friends. Each couple or family had its own area with its own bathroom. It was very nice there and that although we had very bad weather. We found it very positive that the fridge was filled with the first necessary things. Even beer and wine were available. We were thrilled. Thank you. I'll take care of it.

The Finca La Tierra was the dream. The photos already promised a lot, but the reality was breathtaking. During the furnishing of the rooms many little things were thought of, so that nothing was missing for us. Should we plan such a holiday again, we would always return to this beautiful finca.
